Presenter: Deborah Taylor

Bathurst Regional Council

Building Momentum to Net Zero

Some people in Bathurst are of the mistaken belief that Bathurst Regional Council is “coming after” their gas cookers and gas heaters.

Now is your chance to find out more about what BRC is doing to reduce its own emissions from the person responsible.

Deborah Taylor is Council’s Energy Strategy Officer. She has worked at Council since 2007 and has a background in both natural resource management and energy and emissions management.

Council’s emissions profile is dominated by emissions from the Council owned landfill at the Bathurst Waste Management Centre. In this talk Deborah will outline Council’s framework of response, discuss the adoption and implementation of its Emissions Reduction Plan and review progress in achieving its emissions reduction targets.
